

Collis Solutions for Contactless & Mobile Payments

Move your Contactless and NFC projects forward with Collis' Test Tools, Consultancy & Training

World of Contactless

As Contactless and Mobile Payments using NFC technology are gaining momentum worldwide, it's easy to get entangled in all the formal rules & regulations which may prevent action or delay decision-making.

At Collis, we ensure trust in technology, so that when the time comes to launch an NFC payment product, we are by your side with the appropriate tools, consultancy and training to ensure a smooth Contactless or Mobile Payment implementation.

Accredited Test Tools

Our range of state-of-the-art test tools allow you to test handsets, payment applications & terminals, and host servers, allowing you to reduce your development costs significantly. Take for example the Collis Host Test Tool: by using the terminal and authorisation host simulators together, we can isolate the mobile phone for system testing.

Expert Consultancy

Collis can support you in defining the initial business objectives for your NFC payment product. We can also take your initial product proposition and turn it into a more detailed implementation plan. We work with your chosen partner(s) to develop the most appropriate solution to meet your needs and customer & market requirements.

Collis consultants are experts in their field and are trained to combine commercial demands with the reality of available technical solutions.

In-depth Training

We offer training courses ranging from in-depth Contactless and Mobile Payments Training, NFC Training, and EMV Training. Courses on the use of Collis Test Tools are also on offer to ensure that the latest and most practical knowledge is at your fingertips.
